PREAMBLE

The Alliance for European Flax-linen & Hemp (formerly "Confédération Européenne du Lin et du Chanvre" and hereinafter "the Alliance"), incorporated as an association, is the only European agro-industrial organization bringing together and federating all stages of flax and hemp production and processing.

It ensures the development and promotion of the European flax and hemp industry, particularly in the fashion, home and technical products sectors. It offers professionals and consumers the guarantee of traceability of origin for premium flax fiber grown in Western Europe, according to specific standards and processes available at <https://allianceflaxlinenhemp.eu/fr/certification-european-flax>.

CELC is a commercial company, a 100% subsidiary of the Alliance, whose main purpose is to provide the Alliance with technical, administrative and commercial support to enable it to fulfil its mission. In this respect, the User's compliance with the conditions and processes laid down by the Alliance is a determining factor in the validity of this Agreement.

In connection with this activity, CELC is the owner of the international semi-figurative trademark EUROPEAN FLAX n°1161729 dated January 24, 2013, which is reproduced below (hereinafter the "Trademark").

This trademark designates the following countries: European Union, Japan, Belarus, South Korea, Russia.

The use of the Trademark by third parties is intended in particular :

- - Meet societal expectations in terms of transparency
- To be identified by the end consumer by guaranteeing the origin and traceability of Western European fibre flax.
- To certify traceability at every stage of production - from fiber to finished product - guaranteeing transparency and safety.
- To confirm flax as a natural plant fiber whose technical itinerary as means of cultivation and production of the fiber has been established in the Western European zones of France, Belgium and the Netherlands.
- To be recognized as the common signature for the development and promotion of Linen in a European and international context.
- To be a brand for all markets: a quality visa for European fiber flax that anticipates and accompanies the opening up of new fashion, lifestyle, home and technical markets.
- - To promote and safeguard, with a single impetus, a territorial origin and know-hows whose underpin local agricultural excellence in a European and international context.
- Embody the functional and environmental properties of Western European flax fibre through scientific proof.

It is also specified that new trademarks (hereinafter the "New Trademarks") are currently being validated. These New Trademarks are expected to replace the Trademark before the end of 2025. The usage targets for these New Trademarks are the same as those defined above for the Trademark.

The Alliance wanted third parties who share its commitment to the environmental, ethical, innovative and creative values of Western European fibre flax cultivation and production to be individually authorized to use the Trademark or New Trademarks in their communications to the public and to their professional contacts, as follows:

- For the Farming and Scutching stages, all European players are committed to respecting the requirements specified in the EUROPEAN FLAX™ Charter;
- For Processors and Retailers, all European players are committed to respecting the commitments specified in the EUROPEAN FLAX™ Standard and audited annually for each company by Bureau Veritas or another approved body;
- For Distributors purchasing finished products, all European players have undertaken to comply with the conditions of use of the trademark defined in the present Trademark Use Authorization.

CELC has also accredited the Observatoire des Fibres Libériennes as a platform for the identification of bast fibers using a standardized protocol; this observatory brings together laboratories authorized to implement this protocol in order to analyze the bast fiber composition of products worldwide.

On the basis of all this information and commitment, the User has declared his or her interest in using the Trademark or New Trademarks.

THE PARTIES HAVE THEREFORE AGREED AS FOLLOWS:

Article 1^{er} Subject

By this Agreement, CELC authorizes the User on a non-exclusive basis to use the Trademark or New Trademarks in all the territories covered by the Trademark or New Trademarks, subject to compliance with all the conditions set forth in this Agreement, including those appearing in the Preamble and in the documents appearing on the <https://allianceflaxlinenhemp.eu/fr/certification-european-flax> website, of which the User acknowledges, by signing this Agreement, having full knowledge, including the Appendices. Article 2 Trademark ownership

By affixing the Trademark or New Trademarks, the User commits to the following criteria applicable to its certified products:

- Invoices for the purchase of certified materials from manufacturers or traders/traders who are themselves certified must show the seller's certificate number, the fiber composition percentages of the products or materials, and the exact words "European Flax™ certified" clearly identifying the certified products or materials present on the invoice. These mentions on the invoice are proof that the products or materials comply with EUROPEAN FLAX™ requirements: derived from 100% European Flax™ certified linen materials, and composed of a minimum of 50% linen. These requirements are set out in the EUROPEAN FLAX™ Standard available at <https://allianceflaxlinenhemp.eu/fr/certification-european-flax> and audited annually by the certifying body Bureau Veritas or any other approved body.
- Only products or materials certified on invoice may bear the Mark or New Marks, in the forms specified in Articles 4 below. The User shall ensure that the products or materials on which he affixes the Mark or New Marks correspond to the products or materials certified by the invoices.
- The User must ensure that the Trademark or New Trademarks will only be used for certified products or materials. He may only use the Trademark or New Trademarks in elements of any kind, such as catalogs or websites, if the products or materials presented in these elements are all fully certified. Failing this, he/she must clearly distinguish between products and materials that are certified and those that are not.
- Proper labeling of product composition.

If necessary, CELC reserves the right to test the User's products in accordance with the methodology approved by the Observatoire des Fibres Libériennes and by one of the accredited laboratories (see presentation). These tests will be carried out at CELC's expense.
